

123,354

Sentencing Due For CIA Impostor

STAT

A San Pedro pharmacist Federal Bureau of Investigation agents. He was arrested last August at his home by FBI agents. He was charged with tricking a La Jolla professor into giving him maps and documents while posing as a Central Intelligence Agency agent. The victim, Dr. Carl J. Hubbs, of Scripps Institution of Oceanography, told reporters Mirkovich came to him last March, posed as a CIA agent and obtained rare maps and documents of the Mexican state of Sonora. Asst. U.S. Atty. John Schell said yesterday the defendant, Matthew John Mirkovich, 32, led guilty of possession of a fake identification card, federal misdemeanor. The indictment also charged that the defendant attempted to rent a car in Palm Springs while posing as a CIA and a FBI agent.